

Volunteering with Keep up!

Could you help an unconfident person use a computer or smartphone?

We need volunteers who are patient, good listeners and willing to give up a hour or more.

Keep up! is part of Wild Honey, a small community group in Clarendon Park. We run sessions on Wednesday evenings to help local people gain confidence with tablets, smartphones & other technology.

You'll find out how good you are at explaining things to others that come naturally to you. Also you'll get a chance to:

- > Meet local people, and help them
- > Meet other student volunteers
- > Eat chocolate biscuits. Drink tea & coffee
- > Clock up volunteer hours for your CV.

Sessions are at Christchurch in Clarendon Park, a short walk across Victoria Park from the university campus.

For more information see www.wildhoney.org.uk. (Uni students can see Wild Honey on My Careers.) Or email peter@wildhoney.org.uk. Or ring or text 07837 965 725
